ALEXANDER FOR CONGRESS.

It will be seen that we have placed at the head of our columns the name of Cyrus T. Alexander as the people's candidate for Congress. In view of the fact that our party has made no nomination for this important office, we feel called upon to support the man whose influence will be for the people and against the monopolies. It has come to be a question to farmers, mechanics, and laboring men, whether they will longer vote to sustain men in office which every deduction of common sense and reason teaches them cannot and will not represent their interest. Too long have the people been led to vote for men whose interests were not in unison with theirs, with the hope that when they were elected they would forget their own individual interests and vote for the public good. Such men always fail us in time of need, and the consequence is that the monopolists have obtained a gigantic power in the land which will require a strong pull, and a pull all together to overcome. We therefore urge the Republicans of Centre to give Mr. Alexander their undivided support. We appeal to the farmers, mechanics, and laboring men to rally to his support. He is your candidate, and he will represent your claims in the Congress of the nation. Never in the history of the Republic have you needed a faithful public servant more than now. All over the land the cry comes to us that the people are ground down into the very dust by a fearful tyranny. Will you resist it or will you allow the chains to be drawn so close that you can never shake them off?

L. A. Mackey, the regular Democratic nominee, is making superhuman efforts to carry the district. All that money can do, will be done; the power which is always used by the monopolist, and which is so apt to induce a poor man to sell his birthright. Resist the temptation. Or if some poor fool is bought with the greenbacks of this monied king, let his influence and power die when his own vote is cast.

Had the Democratic party nominated a farmer, or a man in the interest of the laboring and producing classes, we should have had no preference between him and Alexander, and no power on earth could have induced us to express one. But as between the monopolies and the people, we must be found on the side of the people, for our interests and sympathies are all with them.

The Centre Hall Reporter says we came from the land of patent rights and monopolies. Too true; therefore, we know their power to ruin and oppress the people.

A MAN OF THE PEOPLE AND FOR THE PEOPLE.

We have to announce this week, that the Republican party of this the 20th congressional district have made no nomination for Congress, and that C. T. Alexander, of Bellefonte, has been brought out as the people's candidate in opposition to L. A. Mackey, who, while he has the sanction of the Democratic conference of his district, is in no sense a candidate of that party or his people. He is a national banker and president of a railroad, and identified with all the corporation monied interests of the county, which are necessarily against the laboring and producing classes, whether they be farmers, manufactures, mechanics, merchants, dealers or day laborers.

The time has come when the laboring and producing classes must look to their own interests, and oppose, by a united effort, the monied powers that have been the cause of this late panic, and the reduction of all values whether of produce or labor. L. A. Mackey is the representative of this monied power, Alexander of the people. We know he has always been a Democrat, and is still, but we, as Republicans, are of and with the people, and should support him in preference to L. A. Mackey, the regular Democratic nominee. Therefore, we urge upon all true Republicans to give him their support.

THE ISSUE.

That the result of the recent elections in Ohio, Indiana, and Iowa, have defined with positive certainty the great issue involved in the present campaign, there can be no mistake. Ohio, which has heretofore been very strongly Republican, and Indiana, heretofore Republican, but not as decidedly so as Ohio, have both gone against us, and indexed with no uncertain sound the current of popular sentiment. The Democracy in both states, proclaimed for free banking, and currency sufficient to meet the demands of trade. It is true the question of temperance was lugged in and had something to do with the defeat in Ohio, but the main cause was the action of Congress on the financial question last winter, and the Democrats presenting platforms that accorded with the popular thought, and met the demand of the people on that question. In September, 1873, when the failure of one firm shook the financial world to its very centre, and unsettled the confidence of all business and commercial interests, it was soon learned that the business of the country, which had been developing, and growing rapidly and successfully, had been carried on on individual credit to too great an extent, and the moment individual credit became impaired there was an enormous demand for a cash medium of exchange. The supply being scarce, and the amount rigidly fixed after immense sacrifice to maintain individual credit, yet it had to succumb to the pressure, and consequently a financial panic ensued, and stagnation of business, and wide spread ruin and disaster in the business of the country followed close in its wake. The same reasons that brought success to the Democracy in Ohio and Indiana ought to defeat the Democracy in this state, and ensure success to the Republicans. The Democracy have placed themselves on a hard money and contraction platform which means a continuation of hard times, and an indefinite postponement of a revival of business, and general employment of labor and prosperity.

The Republicans speak for free banking and a flexible currency. With them all business and manufacturing interests will spring into their wonted activity, and a demand for labor will follow, which will command full compensation, and plenty and happiness again enter the homes of now destitute and distressed people.

Then let Republicans and the working people be alive to the importance of the issue involved in the campaign, and vote in favor of their own personal welfare. Gigantic, soulless corporations of whatever kind must be curbed in their avaricious grasping to gain the control and mastery of the government and the people. In this congressional district the Democrats offer as the party nominee, an offspring of the political ring in the person of L. A. Mackey, for Congress.

It is hardly necessary to say anything more about the Democratic nominee than simply, that he is president of a National Bank, and president of the Bald Eagle Valley Railroad Co. Being so connected with corporations it is needless to say that he is in favor of gigantic corporations. In the person of C. T. Alexander the independent Democratic candidate for Congress, we have a man of the people—one who is from principle opposed to political rings and soulless corporations, which work hand in hand to enhance their own interests, at the expense of the people. Then as Mackey stands on a platform which antagonizes the interests of Republicans and the people, we as Republicans, and in the interest of the people, ask all Republicans to vote for C. T. Alexander for Congress.

BELOW we reproduce some extracts from a letter written by an anonymous correspondent of Osceola, to the editor of the Clearfield County Times. The writer claims to be a democrat, and we commend it as an interesting democratic document for democratic reading:

OSCEOLA, PA., Oct. 1, 1874.

MR. EDITOR:—I am a Democrat and want to vote right, and, therefore, want some person to tell me through your paper when L. A. Mackey, President of the Lock Haven National Bank, President of the Bald Eagle Valley Railroad and (God help us) President of the Wayne Station camp meeting, joined the Democratic party, and what for? Also whether it is just exactly the square thing for a camp meeting president o consume such large quantities of the ardent as to make it a serious question with the directors of the bank whether he is the proper person for President. Morality may be of no account in a member of Congress and much drinking may be a good thing, but I don't know. I would also like to know, if it is not pertinent, just how long he (Mackey) hesitated about going into this little arrangement, by which he (Mackey) was to go to Congress and Wallace to the U. S. Senate for the purpose of getting a government subsidy to the, at present, bankrupt Texas Pacific Railroad.

The writer then states that the above road is the property of a ring of which Wallace is acting president.

Modern history—fortunately unwritten history—shows that judges are sometimes simply made by drawing lots; but a candidate if he is lucky, may loose five thousand dollars by it.—A judge should be familiar with all sorts of petty crimes, and punish with stern severity and trifling transgressions against the law; and if he finds any person playing 'cards on the Sabbath day let him see that he don't pay when he loses, but if he does, then, O wise judge! go for him. Permit me to further suggest, for the moral welfare of the community, that one Daniel, if he comes to the judgement, by the voice of the people, makes an order of court that all persons found intoxicated or dead drunk, or as drunk as Fiddles dog (female), be at once taken to their homes and not to be permitted to fall in the gutter, nor laid inside a fence, for to be found in a gutter or laid in a fence corner, especially in our own yard, is an offence against the moral law. Our Judge will appreciate the force of the suggestion.

By all means do not forget Mackey, for Wallace needs him to keep open the National treasury, for the Texas Pacific is in trouble, the National Bank system of this country has crippled things a trifle by a little folly in another Pacific, but Wallace can get exchange from South Pacific to Texas; a few bonds and plenty of the people's money will set the Texas Pacific right on its legs. No matter if we have to pay high rates and skrimp, and starve ourselves and families! Ain't we getting a big thing in return! Just look at it; Wallace will be Vice-President, who knows but that some day he may be President of the most gigantic—I mean enterprising fraud—no I don't, I mean biggest thing ever devised by a State and national ring, and paid for by the people's money, and they, the dear fools, never know where the money went.—Don't say anything about this it is a good joke. A railroad starting nowhere and running, God knows where, (it beats Curwensville all hollow, Mr. Editor) and our Wallace President and our money in it.

Mackey will be its manager, and perhaps some day will lease it to the man in the moon, or some other responsible person, for ninty-nine years and he won't renew the lease either; at all events he will consult Judge Orvis about it.

Now then forward to the work; let us have no more croaking about hard times. What if we don't have money, and our children no bread, some of us can surely stand it for ten years, when I am told the set-up is to terminate. In the meantime we can mortgage our houses and lands at from twenty to twenty-five per cent for something to live on—those of us who have homes, the balance can surely stop growling and do the best they can; if not we have a good sheriff who will do it for them, besides plenty of constables to assist him. Then what is the use of complaining at the other little extras, such as the trifling donation of fifty-five millions of dollars in gold annually to National Banks. Look at our unmeasurable resources to pay it. What a refuge from anxiety and want! God save the Commonwealth.

JUDGE McENALLY ACCEPTS.

Below we give the letter of acceptance of James B. McEnally as our candidate for additional Law Judge. It was with great reluctance that Mr. McEnally accepted the nomination, and it was only after the most urgent appeals from men of all parties all over the district that he was induced to be a candidate, and yield his own private objections to the public good.

Here is a case where the office sought the man and not the man the office. The feeling of distrust in Judge Orvis is wide spread and increasing, while on the other hand the eminent ability and fitness of Mr. McEnally is acknowledged on all hands.

Let the people rally for Judge McEnally! He is the most fit man for the position. You have forced him to the front, now let every man do his duty and he is sure to carry the counties of Clearfield and Centre by large majorities. The following is the letter:

Bellefonte, Oct. 20th, 1874.

Messrs J. C. Holohan, S. D. Gray, J. C. Henderson and others, Rep. Jud. Conferees in 25 Jud. Dist.

When you met a few days ago, and presented my name as a candidate for Additional Law Judge, it appeared to me from considerations of private interest that I should decline. If I acted wholly from consideration of that kind I would still decline. But the tender of the nomination has been unanimous and voluntary. My acceptance has been urged, not only by you but by many other valued friends in whose judgment much reliance can be placed. Under the circumstances it seems my duty to accept.

I therefore accept the nomination with my greatetul acknowledgments for the honor done me by those who have thus bestowed this mark of their confidence. If elected I will discharge the duties of the office to the best of my ability, and if not elected I will not complain.

Very respectfully yours truly,

J. B. McENALLY.

THE OSCEOLA "REVEILLE" TALKS POLITICS AGAIN.

That very independent journal the Osceola Reveille has found another "man of the people and for the people" in the person of the great monopolist, L. A. Mackey. It says:

"If elected to Congress, Mr. Mackey will have opportunities for extending and enlarging his influence. Brought in contact with leading men from all parts of the nation, he will have greater facilities for augmenting the capital stock necessary to carry on and complete the great railroad enterprise now about to be commenced."

Money is power; how much did it take to buy the Reveille? Week before last it came out in favor of W. A. Wallace for State Senate; last week it took as decided a stand for Mackey. It has been said, that these men desire to be elected in order to get their hands upon some of the people's money in the furtherance of some railroad scheme. We ask the honest voters and tax-payers of Centre county if they do not think they have had enough of railroad jobs, and Credit Mobiliers in Congress.

It was through the election to Congress of a monied monopolist that the Credit Mobilier scandal arose. Oaks Ames was a disgrace to Massachusetts. Does Pennsylvania desire to share the honor? Until the people take the matter into their own hands and elect men from the common people, instead of men of the monopolies and for the monopolies, they will ever be oppressed by legislation in the special interest of a favored class.

WE are in receipt of a letter from Moore, Simpson & Co., brokers to the Lock Haven National Bank, denying that L. A. Mackey is a member of their firm, saying that he does not now, nor ever has owned a dollar in their bank and that the largest stock holder is the richest man in Centre Co. If Mr. Mackey, is not a stock holder in their bank he has been very much belied for the last two years, for we have heard it so stated ever since we have been in this county and no one ever took interest enough in the matter to deny it, until Mr. Mackey became a candidate for Congress. But admit the denial it does not better matters any for it is well understood that when Moore, Simpson & Co. went into business they were a sort of a side show in the interest of the Lock Haven National Bank, and by an arragement with that bank, they were not to receive deposits, but were to receive their supply of money from the National Bank. It is not reasonable to suppose that Mr. Mackey, as president of that bank, would furnish the money for nothing. He must receive his share of the shaves out of the blood money as we said before. We will also state, for those interested, that a brother-in-law of that richest man, stated to us that he had been to the Lock Haven National Bank for money, when he was in need, and had been referred to Moore, Simpson & Co. Why was this, thus?

THE people of Delaware want to have a big race for Governor, but we can't see how they possibly can, unless they get permission to run in some other State.—Louisville Courier-Journal.

EDITOR'S TABLE.

TALKS WITH WOMEN.

THE SLEEPING-ROOM.

Let any of us try to recall sleeping rooms which have impressed themselves upon the memory, pleasantly or otherwise, and we shall see upon what slight, apparent causes hung our liking or repugnance. There is a well-remembered room which belonged to the vine-wreathed cottage of an England relative, in an England village. The walls are whitened, and held a few pictures—not at all cheerful—of Ananias Sapphira, the Crusifiction, and the Scene in the Temple; but an old china pot full of dried rose-leaves stood upon a very old, carved bureau. The small, triangular, diamond-paned windows opened upon an old-fashioned English garden, full of gooseberry and currant bushes, pear and plum trees, beehives and bird-roosts, roses and daffy-down-dillies, "old man" and scarlet-runners, peppermint and sweet-majoram. And though a quarter of a century has passed, yet the little girl of seven, lying luxuriously between the sheets of heavy linen, white as snow, and scented with lavander, feels again the morning breeze upon her cheeks, gets the odor of the sweet-brier and the roses, and lives over again the dreamless nights of an English summer, in a pretty English home.

Women exercise in more ways than riding and walking even; they require to use their hands and arms, to throw out their chests, to put the whole body in motion. No Health Lift, no gymnastics are half so good for the purpose, as making beds, and sweeping, dusting, and arranging rooms. Then there is something peculiarly agreeable in the thought that an intelligent hand touches and smooths sheets and pillows, evens everything off nicely, removes with care dust from vases, bottles, books, and secret nooks and corners, leaves the toilet apparatus in order, and takes away whatever is unsigthly. The time required is very little, indeed, when the work is done with regularity, and the satisfaction is immense.

Let us make our sleeping-rooms in some sense hallowed ground, sacred to repose, to gentle thoughts, to purity, to truth; representative, in brief, of the life we hope for when the last sleep opens the portals upon a diviner day.—Demorest's Monthly.

OUR ASSOCIATED PRESS LETTER.

PHILADELPHIA, October 20, 1874.

ENGLAND'S HOLD ON OUR COAL LANDS.

The Reading Coal and Iron Company own 90,000 acres of coal lands in Penna., valued at $54,000,000. This company recently mortgaged their collieries, houses, etc., to the Philada. and Reading Railroad Company, in the sum of $26,000,000. The capitalists of England own a large majority of the Reading company, and also hold a first mortgage of $18,000,000 upon the Reading Railroad and its appurtenances. In view of the fact that there is existing a well defined fear that the coal supply of England will become exhausted within the next 15 years, the English mortgagees and owners of the stock have, through their agents here, caused the purchase of the coal lands as above; have had built a number of iron steam ships and wooden vessels for ocean service in the transportation of coal; have purchased wharfage on the Delaware river, in this city, extending more than half a mile in length, and to these wharves the coal is brought directly from the collieries by cars and loaded into ocean steamers for transportation to England, when necessary, and to Boston for the present.

In the meantime, until coal is actually in demand by English manufacturers, the corporation has been instructed to advance the price upon American consumers as rapidly as they will stand it. Acting under these instructions the Reading company have advanced the price of coal 15 cents a ton, a month, for the last four months; and during July and August they reduced their carrying capacity 33 per cent. and for the month of September, 40 per cent. This advance in the price of coal, reducing the hours of employment of their workmen, and the advance of 18 cents a ton for each ton of coal carried in 1873 over the prices of the year previous, have had the effect to make the year's business one of the most prosperous ever done by the company.

I ask, is it entirely satisfactory to the iron producers of Pennsylvania that the coal mines of the Commonwealth are monopolized by capitalists of England? Are the unemployed miners of Dauphin, Northumberland, Columbia and Schuylkill counties gratified to know that economy in mining coal, and combination in carrying it to market, added $523,395.68 to the reserve fund of the Reading company during the year, after paying a larger interest account than ever before paid, and dividends of $4,291,384.26, and carrying, I don't know what amount, to the sinking fund account?

THE FRANKLIN INSTITUTE EXHIBITION.

This exhibition of skilled labor which opened here the early part of this month has been largely attended. Mr. Childs, Public Ledger, seldom exalts men or things, yet it is extravagant in its commendation of this exhibition, and properly terms it the "High Change of General Industry." The Ledger says: Very few intelligent observing persons have gone there without learning many things of interest, and some of immediate value for present use. It is a liberal education to study the principles upon which the machines are constructed and the manner in which they work.

To write of each particular piece of handicraft on exhibition as its meritoriousness would seem to warrant, would occupy every line of space in these letters from now until the 4th of July next, therefore, I will pass the various sewing machines, butter workers, dough kneaders, patent milkers, churns, etc., over to their respective inventors for descriptive accounts, and mention only those things which strike my eye as most deserving. From Clearfield county, this state, is a mammoth chunk of coal, from the Excelsior vein—wherever that is—weighing 5,270 pounds, considerably more than two and a half tons. I noticed a number of gentlemen looking at that "black diamond" as though they thought it would appear to much better advantage in their coal cellar, and I quite agree with them, except perhaps, as to the cellar.

As I gave an account last week of the best machine making tools on exhibit, I ought, perhaps, to say something in this letter of interest to the ladies, and that is simply to say to those who visit the Exhibition—which will continue open until November—to examine the eight pianos on exhibition. Two of them are the ordinary parlor pianos; two are called the Square Grand: two are Concert Grand and the remaining two are Upright Grand. A gentleman, one of the most expert pianists in the city, is almost constantly playing upon them. That which will most attract the attention, even of the most unobservant is the piano inlaid with the woods of all countries; so perfect is the human skill in the inlaying of these woods that it is impossible for the naked eye to detect by lines where they are joined together. As the woods are used of the hard kind, box, rosewood, orange, lignum vitæ, fir, beech, sycamore, ash, teak, palm, etc., it is a marvel how the thousands of beautiful shaped pieces could be so artistically and ingeniously put together. There are other pianos on exhibition but I do not consider them so worthy of notice as the eight above mentioned.

THE CENTENNIAL.

The ladies of Baltimore hold a Centennial tea party on the 19th instant for the purpose of raising funds for the great event of 1876. In Cincinnati the ladies are about inaugurating a movement whereby they will be fairly represented in all the branches of female industry at the Exhibition of 1876. The recent inter-state exhibition held in Cincinnati was visited by 514,000 persons, an average of nearly 20,000 per day for the 27 days of the exhibition; apply the same ratio of visitors to the Centennial exhibition—the attractions of which will be world wide—and it foots up three million visitors for the six (6) months the Exhibition will remain open. In order that Ohio may "spread herself" at Philadelphia in 1876, no exposition will be held in Cincinnati that year. The Republic of Columbia has given notice of its intention to participate, and its government has appropriated $25,000 with which to begin the preparation necessary for a proper exhibition of the effects of that people at the Centennial. Mexico appropriated $50,000 for similar purposes, and thus far New Jersey is the only State of this Union which has, by her legislature, made an appropriation to the Centennial Commission.

Alderman William M'Mullin and Adelaide M'Mullin, may have been "married in the eyes of God," as Adelaide observed in the trial of the cause she brought against the Squire last week, charging him with assault and battery; but in the "eyes of the jury" which acquitted him, such a marriage was not lawful, and it would therefore be libellous to say that M'Mullin did batter and assault the woman, or that he is the father of the little M'Mullin.

In imposing sentence upon Daniel K. Jones, for repeating at the election in February last, Judge Paxon, in a burst of Judicial eloquence, said: "An attempt to bribe a Cabinet minister, or a juryman, or a judge, with intent to corrupt him in a case depending before him, does not more directly affect the community than the case under consideration."

"A blow aimed at the purity of elections is a crime against this nation. When the ballot-box, ceases to reflect the popular will we shall be in a condition little better politically than a South American republic, if, indeed, it is necessary, even now, to go beyond some of our own Southern States for an illustration."

During the last week of September, this year, domestic produce valued at $5,278,759 was exported from New York, as against $2,494,941 for the same period in 1873, a falling off of $1,216,182 for the week of this year, as compared with that of '73. The import entries of general merchandise at New York, for the last week of Sept. 1873, amounted to $7,219,797, and for the same period this year $6,632,465. The result is we are $628,940, worse off for the week named in 1874 than the same period for 1873 showed.

In the suit brought by Christian K. Ross against the publishers of the Reading Eagle a verdict of guilty was rendered. The publishers have asked for a new trial which will scarcely be granted. I take it that imprisonment will not result in this libel case as the friends of Mr. Ross are content with the vindication of that gentleman as established by the trial, and will not press the case to fine or imprisonment.

The Advance, and the Central Fire Insurance companies of this city, have been dissolved and receivers appointed. They did quite a large business throughout the State.

A meeting of the bondholders of the Oil Creek and Allegheny River Railroad Company was held in this city during the week; the bondholders "despised" the directors, and the latter termed the first "liars." The proposition to convert the bonds into preferred stock was declined as utterly incompatible with the rights and interests of the mortgage creditors of the company, and a speedy foreclosure under the mortgage was agreed upon and a committee selected to foreclose. SHUT THE DOOR SOFTLY.

Shut the door softly, mother's asleep,
Her fever is broken, her slumber is deep,
Look in her pale face and see there no pain—
Darling, be thankful, we've mother again.

Shut the door softly, and come to her side,
What should we do if our mother had died?
She who has loved us our weary life through:
Shut the door softly, and do as I do.
Shut the door softly, and kneel with me here,
To him who has spared us our own mother dear:
Who has given her back to our arms once again,
Borne her through danger and softened her pain.

Shut the door softly, and look in her face
And see how it gathered in health and in grace.
Is she not handsome, this mother of ours,
Waking to life like the budding of flowers?
Let us lose all in this fast flying life,
Sister and brother, and husband and wife,
Mother's love only, all time has defied;
Shut the door softly, and come to her side.

Shut the door softly, mother's awake,
Back from the shores of the fathomless lake:
Weary with travel, but laden with charms,
Longing to clasp us in her dear arms.
Mother, dear mother! we loved you before,
Now we shall love you a thousand times more,
Welcome dear heart from the shadowy land:
Shut the door softly and kiss her dear hand.

THE LITTLE BROWN HAT ON THE ATTIC FLOOR.

BY MRS. J. P. BALLARD.

Little dresses were folded and laid away,
And toys that no more would be used in play;
"Printed" letters, whose loving words still burned—
On those sacred treasures the key had turned.

All put away?—was there ever seen
A trunk that had power from eyes too keen
To shut from the heart with sorrow bruised
Each relic the absent one had used?

Was ever from out your household missed
The fairest form which the sunlight kissed?
Has there followed the music of childish glee
A silence as awful as silence can be?

Then how far could you wander about the home
And where could you find the favored room
Where no reminder would suddenly start
The ready tears from your fresh stabbed heart?

Months after such treasures were laid away,
I went to the attic one busy day—
A little round shadow—or, was it more?
A brown straw hat on the attic floor.

A little brown hat, with its wreath of green,
And scarlet cherries half hid between;
And many a bit of bright silk near,
And a pile of empty spools were here.

Ah! now I remember that play-day well!
The silk and the spools their story tell
Of two busy darlings, and one no more
Will need the brown hat on the attic-floor.

Though you hide your treasures 'neath lock and key,
And wander far from the spot where they be—
While your own heart beats, you will stumble o'er
Some little brown hat on the attic-floor.

Our Story Teller.

AMY LESTER'S FORTUNE.

BY A WILLMINGTON LADY.

It was sunset on a lovely evening towards the close of June, when Amy Lester leaned from her uncle's carriage to take a last look at the home she was leaving forever.

She had lived since her earliest childhood with an uncle who fairly idolized her and now he had died, and contrary to all expectations, had left the whole of his princely fortune to his sister, to whose home Amy was now going.

It was through blinding tears that she looked back, for this aunt who had offered her shelter was proud and cruel, and Amy instead of being received as a daughter, was to be merely the companion of her haughty cousin Maude.

While these thoughts were passing through her mind, the carriage stopped, and looking out she found she had arrived at her future home. There was no one at the door to welcome her save her uncle who with joy beaming on his countenance assisted her to alight, and having saluted her in a kind and fatherly manner whispered in her ear, "my poor Amy you need not expect much welcome in there, (pointing to the house) but be assured that you will always find a staunch friend in your uncle,' his eyes filled with tears as he spoke, but he hastily wiped them away, and before she had time to thank him, the door opened and she was in the presence of her relations. Her aunt merely gave her the tips of her fingers, without deigning to speak while her cousin Maude lightly kissed her on the cheek, and thinking that she had done all that was necessary she drew back and stood at some distance from Amy, looking at her as if she were a living curiosity. The tears sprang to Amy's eyes at this reception, but she forced them back, and with proud composure leaned against the wall as if waiting to see what would be done next. 'Dinner is waiting,' said her aunt, 'the servant will show you to your room, and when you have laid aside your wrappings, you can come down and dine with us, but remember, this is the last time you will be permitted to be so familiar but I suppose it will not make much difference, for being a servant yourself you will not object to eating with them. Amy's eyes flashed fire, and drawing herself up proudly she replied, 'Aunt Esther you may call me a servant and treat me as one, but never, though you should close your doors against me, would I so demean myself as to sit at the table with your servants.' Her aunt, pale with anger, was about to strike her, when her husband sprang forward, seized her hands and holding them firmly said, 'I have hitherto remained silent and have listened with patience to all the affronts which have been heaped upon this innocent child and I will now speak as master of the house. Amy will not only eat with us now but always, and more than that, she will accompany us to Saratoga next week, and Amy, my dear, if your wardrobe is not sufficiently filled, you can let me know, and your aunt will see that you are properly provided for, not a word now," (as Amy was about to thank him) 'but be off and get yourself ready for dinner as quickly as possible, or it will not be fit to eat,' so saying he rang for the servant who conducted Amy to her room, he followed her with his eyes until she was out of sight and then returning into the room he repeated to himself, 'poor child, poor child.'

When Amy reached her own room, having dismissed the servant she could restrain herself no longer, and throwing herself on the bed she gave vent to a paroxysm of tears, having relieved her mind somewhat by this means she sat up and looked around.

It was a small room with but one window there was a strip of carpet at the foot of the bed which looked as if it had been in use for several generations, besides the bed, a bureau with a small mirror attached to it, a toilet table, one chair, a washstand and an old but capacious closet comprised the whole furniture of the room, and after unpacking her trunks, she again threw herself on the bed, and sobbed herself to sleep.

The house was all confusion for the remainder of the week owning to the preparations for departure, nevertheless Amy did not escape the taunts of her aunt and cousin, but she bore them in silence, resolving that on her return home she would apply for a situation as teacher in some Academy, never dreaming of what was in store for her:

At length the day of their departure arrived, and its close found them entering one of the principal hotels in Saratoga.—'O, dear, me, how glad I am that we are here,' said Maude, throwing her satchel on the hall floor, 'Amy pick that up and take it up stairs, for I am not able I am so tired.' 'I cannot do it Maude,' said Amy, 'you see that my arms are already too full, and although you may not think it, I can assure you that I am not made of iron.' 'Mamma just listen how impudently Amy is speaking to me, Amy I command you to pick that up.' 'Excuse my impertinence Miss, said a young man stepping forward, who had witnessed the whole scene, 'Allow me to assist you, and he picked up the satchel as he spoke, and turning to Maude he said, 'Good evening Miss Meredith, will you present me to this young lady.' Maude started and turned pale, for the stranger was none other than Mr. Carl Evans, the rich and handsome young lawyer, over whom all the young ladies were in ecstacies, Maude included. 'O Mr. Evans, I am delighted to see you,' said Maude, 'have you been here long.' 'Only since yesterday,' he replied and then repeated his former request. She bit her lips with vexation, but replied, 'O certainly, I had forgotten about it. Mr. Evans this is Amy Lester, my waiting maid', she is a distant relation of ours, but is very poor,' then turning to him laughingly, she said, 'now assist her if you will.' He made no reply, but with a little smile lurking around the corners of his fine month, he relieved Amy of her load and requesting the waiter to lead the way, he strode up stairs, followed by the two girls, one filled with astonishment, the other anger, and having deposited the bundles safely in a corner of the room, he retired, not however before speaking to Amy and requesting that their acquaintance might be continued.

One evening when they had been in Saratoga about a week, Amy was sitting on the veranda, with her hands folded on a book in her lap, and listening dreamily to the music coming through the open windows, when she was startled by the sound of footsteps and looking up she beheld Mr. Evans beside her. 'O how you frightened me Mr. Evans, she exclaimed. 'I am so sorry,' he said, 'I did not mean to do so but seeing you thinking so deeply I thought it would be pleasant to know what those thoughts were since they seemed to be so pleasing to you, may I share them.'

'O certainly,' she said, 'I was thinking how happy the angels must be, for they are listening constantly to music and in Heaven everything is peaceful and happy. O, would I were there.' She leaned her cheek on her hand and sighed deeply, looking up earnestly she beheld him gazing earnestly upon her, she blushed, and was about to retire when he said:

'Miss Lester will you walk around the porch with me a few minutes; I have something to ask you.' She suffered him to lead her away, and when at some distance from the crowd, he said, 'Miss Amy, I have noticed how cruelly you are treated by your relations, do you think you could love me well enough to leave them and be my little wife?' 'Mr. Evans I can not listen to you, for in speaking thus you are prompted by pity not by love.' 'No, no, Amy, listen to me, I confess the first day I did pity you but since then I have seen your goodness and patience, and I love you now, my darling, deeply, passionately, do you love me, will you be my wife? O think, darling Amy before you render me miserable for life.' 'Well Carl,' she said, 'I love you, but this is so sudden that I can not give you my final answer until to-morrow, so au revoir till then,' and before he could utter one word of remonstrance she was gone.

'Ah, well, I will try to kill time till to-morrow by going to bed,' and he went, if not to bed, to his own chamber where we will leave him for the present.

The next morning Mr. Meredith came into the private parlor, where the family together with Mr. Evans were seated, glancing hastily around he espied Amy, and going up to her he said, 'Amy, good news, good news! your late uncle left another will in which you are the sole heiress of his wealth, it was discovered only yesterday in a bundle of old papers. Esther, Maude, why do you not congratulate little Amy on her good fortune, for my part I am glad, not only on Amy's account but also on my own, for this reason, that I may give up playing the gentleman. Well Amy what have you to say about it.' 'Well uncle, in the first place I have to thank you for this both great and good news, and your kindness since I have been in your house, secondly, I forgive aunt Esther and beg her to accept half of my fortune, to Mr. Evans I will answer yes to that question he asked me last night, and I want Maude if she will consent, to be my brides maid.

PENNSYLVANIA'S ART GALLERY.

The above cut is designed to illustrate the building now in course of erection upon the Centennial Exhibition grounds, and known as the Art Gallery of the Inernational Exhibition. The city of Philadelphia appropriated for the erection of this building $500,000, and the state of Pennsylvania, $1,000,000. Its construction will not exceed the amount appropriated.

The building is to be used during the Centennial Exhibition for the display of paintings, engravings, lithographs, photographs, and the productions of fine art generally. It is to remain perpetually in Fairmount park as the property of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania, for the preservation and exhibition of national and state relics and works of art and industry, and for this purpose is to be kept open after the year 1876, for the improvement and enjoyment of the people of Pennsylvania, under equal facilities and privileges afforded to all the people of the state. But works of art and the products of industry from other states may be admitted, and there shall be no discrimination between the people of the several states of the Union.

THE SOUTH.

AN APPALLING RECORD OF CRIME.

Shooting, Hanging, and Whipping—House, Church, and School House Burning—Men, Women, and Children the Victims—The Bullet, Knife, Halter, and Torch the Weapons.

The following record of crime is without a parallel even in the days of the Inquisition. It embraces but a portion of the recent atrocities, and probably not a tithe of all that have been committed since the United States granted a general amnesty to their authors. There is no justice for the victims or their friends. When a colored man kills a white man in the South he is promptly arrested, and either tried and executed or hanged without trial by a vindictive mob. When a white man kills a negro, the offender is carefully guarded from violence, furnished with excellent counsel, and generally escapes with no further punishment than the loss of his time and the inconvenience of an arrest. We make the following assertions with the confident belief that they can not be truthfully gainsayed:

1. That since the war no negro in the South convicted of murdering a white man has escaped hanging.

2. That during the same time no white man guilty of murdering a negro has been hung for the offense.

ALABAMA.

We intend to beat the negro in the strife, the warfare, the unending battle for life, and defeat means but one thing—extermination!—Birmingham, Alabama, News.

July 4.—At Clintonville, Coffee county, the 4th of July last, the colored people were holding a "Sunday-school meeting." Large numbers of men, women, and children were present, when a body of white men rode up, and without saying a word, opened a deadly fire on the assemblage. Two were killed and six badly wounded.

The Hons. Adam C. Felder and Wm. H. Seawell, two prominent white Republicans, were shot at in Greenville, Alabama, at night in July last, on their return from the court-house, where they had been making Republican speeches. They were also "rotten-egged" and otherwise insulted. Their lives were saved by the timely arrival of the sheriff and his posse.

August 1.—Walter P. Billings, a young and promising lawyer, was riding on horseback home from a Republican meeting, at five o'clock in the afternoon, when, in passing through a piece of woods within half a mile of his house, he was shot by assassins lying in ambush. He and his horse were found dead on the road in the morning. His money and watch were untouched.

The Kuklux of Livingston openly threaten that if Greata, the law partner of Billings, or Captain Wells, the brother-in-law of the murdered man, ever return there that they shall never get away alive!

Hon. Charles Hays, member of Congress, says: "On or about August 1 a company of whites ambushed a party of negroes returning from church, killed ten and wounded thirteen.

"Again, Green Lewis, colored route agent on the Selma and Meridian railroad, was warned that if he continued to run on that road they would murder him. I had his route changed to save his life.

"Again, Hon. Joseph H. Speed, Superintendent of Public Instruction, was attacked and beaten by a mob at Marion, Alabama, because he had that day made a Republican speech in the town."

August 7.—Mr. Hays says: "In Carrolton, Pickens county, four colored men, who were supposed to be "emissaries" sent to post the negroes on their rights, were taken, the third week in August, from their cabins, and hung by the roadside. This deed was perpetrated in open daylight by a body of unmasked white men."

On the 20th of August, 1874, the bodies of three men, two colored and one white, were discovered floating down the Tombigbee river lashed to some logs. When found the bodies were badly decomposed, and their personal identity to this day remains undiscovered. The white man had a placard pinned to his neck saying: "This is the way we treat Dutch niggers," evidently alluding to the nativity of the man who seemed to be a German. The other two were placarded, "To Mobile, with the compliments of Pickens county."

August 20.—Hon. John J. Martin, Sixth Auditor of the Treasury Department, is a native Southern man. Prior to the war he was one of the largest slaveholders in Alabama, and belonged to a family whose history has been blended with that of the State from the time it was a Territory up to the present date. He has held various positions of honor and trust in the State, was a Union man all through the bloody scenes of the rebellion, and is noted for his urbanity, politeness, and gentle manners. On the 20th of August he visited Alabama to attend the State Republican Convention. While there the Democratic paper, published in the town where he had lived for many years, advised his old friends to have nothing to do with him, that he was a Radical, and must be treated with "that scorn and contempt he so rightly deserved for allying himself with the Radical party."

August 26.—In Greensboro, Hale county, the colored people have two or three purely benevolent societies. This evening the meeting of one of these societies was waited upon by a body of white men, and notified that they must not meet again—"that they were devising means to murder the whites." Instantly and peacefully the colored men and women dispersed to their homes, and in this way prevented another bloody riot, where the "black man invariably is in the wrong, and always gets killed."

August 26.—James Bliss, an inoffensive colored men, was a delegate from one of the country precincts of Sumter county to the late Republican State Convention. Wednesday night a body of masked men visited his house, but Bliss, seeing them, had fled. They searched in vain for the "Radical nigger," but told his family they would return again. The result is, Bliss has fled from the country.

August 24.—The Meridian Mercury, (Dem.) gives an account of the killing of five negroes in North Sumter. Nothing is known as to why these negroes were killed. They were all shot. The correspondent of the Mercury, writing from Gainesville, Ala., August 26, 1874, facetiously remarks that "two of the crowd went dead in a cornfield.' This Democratic correspondent concludes his article as follows: 'All these deaths occurred on the 24th, except the negro woman, who was killed early on the morning of the 25th.'

August 27.—In Wacoche Valley, Russell county, on Thursday night, August 27, the negroes were holding a protracted religious meeting in Ebenezer Church. The services were interrupted by a body of men, who called the preachers out and told them 'they (the whites) understood the negroes were preparing to have an insurrection.' This the colored men denied, and invited the white men to remain there, and come regularly to see that they were only holding religious meetings. The whites refused, and ordered the meeting broke up. This was immediately done. Many of the colored men and women were cruelly beaten and whipped that night on their way back home. The same night this church, another for colored people a mile distant, and a school-house for colored people were burned.

Hon. Charles Pelham, Macon county, member of Congress from the Third District, was compelled, a few weeks since, to escape from the town of Tuskegee at night to save his life. He was warned of the danger by a faithful negro, and jumped from his window and fled to the railroad, six miles distant. They intended to murder him, because he had been elected and had voted as a Republican at the last session of Congress.

A band of masked men went to a cabin on the farm of J. W. Bell, five miles from Elkton, where Isham Link and two other men and a boy, all colored, were sleeping. They demandad entrance, forced open the door, and fired into the cabin, the shot entering the abdomen of the boy in bed. Link, the object of their malice, was dragged out into a field, where his body was riddled with balls.

August 28.—A train on the Albemarle and Chattanooga railroad was stopped at York, Alabama, by a false signal; a band of armed men entered the mail car and shot the colored mail agent (Ivey) in cold blood.

In Lee county three colored churches were burned, and three or four negroes seriously injured.

In Livingston, Mr. Allen, a hotelkeeper, was brutally beaten because he dared to say he was a Republican.

Not far from the scene of the above outrages, a band of Kuklux assassins attacked a party of defenseless negroes and proceeded to their work of death as if the negroes were but beasts. Fortunately two of the negroes were armed, and returned the fire of the Kuklux. The result was quite encouraging. One of the infamous band was killed outright and another dangerously wounded. No one can tell the name of the man who was killed, but the wounded man is Joe Stallworth, a vagabond scoundrel, whose career as a drunken loafer and miserable nuisance is well known in Choctaw county where he once resided.

Within the last ten days no less than fourteen murders have been committed within an area of thirty miles of Meridian.

August 31.—At night Simon Edwards, living near Meridian, Lauderdale county was taken from his house by a band of men, some ten or more in number, and most foully and brutally murdered. The murderers were arrested and brought before Justice Morris. The wife of the deceased testified to the fact of the attack on the cabin by armed men, who fired through the cracks in the wall, and who finally burst the door open, coming in with a lighted candle, seizing her husband taking him out a distance of forty rods, and then, while two of the number held him, the balance of the party riddled his body with buckshot. Not being satisfied with this treatment, after the body was prostrated and lifeless, the head was beaten to a pulp. This is positive evidence, in opposition to which there is no rebuttal. This witness also identifies and points out in open court the parties accused as being among the number engaged in the killing of her husband. Justice Miller, 'after a short argument by the counsel, announced that there is not a single scintilla of evidence to show that the parties are guilty and, therefore, the defendants are honorably discharged.'

On the same night, or rather the following morning, the body of Monroe Keeton, a young man living at Toomsuba, about thirteen miles distant, east of Meridian, and five or six miles from where the killing of Edwards took place, was found dead in front of the depot building.

Not only are murders and whippings resorted to, to effect a change in the politics of the negroes, but other means also, as will be seen from the following "notice," which was taken from a signboard on the crossroads near Livingston, Ala., and handed to Hon. Charles Hays, many of like import, and is evidently intended to appeal to the well known superstitious dread of the more ignorant colored people:

"WARNING!"

'The invisible monarch rules in Sumter, and watches the doings of his people from a little star above you. All 'niggers,' white and black, will take warning from the fate of Billings and Ivy. They were killed by unknown hands, which will never be known. Those hands will destroy again. Colored men who want to live in peace and be protected can do it by inquiring where they can sign the White Man's Constitution. 'Inquire,' and our ironarch will send a man to you, who will have the 'roll.' Never vote the Radical ticket again. Sign and live. Refuse and die. Signed at the Spirit Land, at the hour of death, and by the graves of the dead.

V. V. V. V.'

September 3.—An attempt was made on the night of the 3rd inst to assassinate United States Marshal Thomas. As he and another gentlemen were returning from a political meeting, the assassin, who was concealed in the bushes by the roadside, shot at him as he passed, but owing the darkness missed his aim. The active part Thomas has taken in the political campaign is supposed to be the cause of the cowardly act.

Mr. W. A. Lipscomb, of Marengo Co., a most exemplary citizen and a Republican without reproach, was recently found on the roadside near his residence, "riddled with bullets." Mr. Lipscomb was a delegate in the convention which renominated Hon. Charles Hays for re-election to Congress from the 4th district of that State.

September 7.—A few weeks ago, Major John G. Stokes, formerly [editor of the Daily Journal at Montgomery, Alabama, himself a Southern man and Confederate soldier, made a Republican speech at Greensboro, Hale county. That night he was warned (after his room in the hotel had been entered at one o'clock at night) by a band of pistoled and armed ruffians, that he must not visit the county again to make Radical speeches. Major Stokes is well known in Washington.

September 12.—Greene Co. was invaded last Saturday—12th instant—by a band of armed men from Sumter. The pretence was that they were looking for a certain colored man. Hearing, or professing to hear, that he was in the gin-house of old man Berry Browne, these chivalrous Christain White League Kuklux Democrats rode up to the aforesaid gin-house, and immediately opened fire upon it! Immediately four or five little children ran out of the gin-house and off to the woods. And when these valorous White League warriors had all left, the children that had ran off came back, and it was found that one had disappeared. Search was made, when the missing child was found in the gin-house shot through the head! Such, we are assured, is the terroism now prevailing at some places in Greene, that hundreds of colored people have left and gone to the swamps for protection! And perhaps it was a body of these terror-stricken colored Republicans, who had fled from their homes for protection, that were so easily and quickly dispatched recently in the vicinity of Forkland. A letter before us, from a citizen of Greene county, whose only offense is that he will not quit the Republican party, exclaims: "Oh, God! how long will these wicked men be permitted to insult and outrage us, and make our lives a burden?"

September 29.—One of the special agents of the General Post Office Department, now in Alabama investigrting the murder in Ivey, says in a letter to the Postmaster General: "The reign of terror existing in this (Sumter) county at present far exceeds anything of the kind I have ever seen. Armed bodies of men are riding over the country, and the colored people are afraid to go into the fields to save their crops from waste and ruin. The right of free speech is denied them, and many desire to return to slavery."

The Kuklux have openly proclaimed that no Republican meeting shall be held in Sumter county, and also that no Republican shall be permitted to canvass that county under penalty of death.

Although it is somewhat difficult to discriminate, yet to Sumter county may safely be conceded a larger amount of crime than there has, so far, been committed in any other county in the State. Going back a little we find the following terrible record: Daniel Price, elected clerk of the Sumter Court in 1868, was ordered to leave the county or be killed. He left.

George Houston, a Republican member of the Legislature, was attacked while in his own house in Livingston. His son was badly wounded, and Houston was shot, but had to leave the county to save his own life!

There were shot and killed in Sumter as follows:

Jasper Alexander, Enoch Boyd, Dr. Browning, Mr. Bryan, Richard Burke, Amanda Childers, Jerry Clarke, —— Coblentz, Collins, Flem Cross' wife, Grattan, Dudley, Hart, —— Hoffer, mail agent, Dennis Pearl, Anthony Rodgers, Royles, Scarborough, Silas Thurlough, Travis, Ezekiel Williams, Yankee Ben, Anderson Young—twenty-six in number.

There were shot and wounded in Sumter, as follows:

J. S. Etherlidge, G. W. Houston, Houston's son, Alfred Jolly, Charles Powell, Robert Reid, Hayne Richardson, Enoch Sledge, Peter Stewart—nine in all.

There were whipped and tortured in Sumter, as follows:

John Childer, George A. Clark, Danger Brown, Amanda Childer, G. A. Clark, Prince Evans, Mr. Suggatt, Charles T. Powell—numbering seven in all.

October 6.—The report of Capt. Mills, in command of the company of United States troops which has arrived in Sumter Co., Alabama, was to-day received at the War Department. Captain Mills is in command of a company of the second infantry, which proceeded to Sumter Co. under the recent joint order of the War Departmant and the Attorney General.

Captain Mills states that armed men are constantly riding about the country, and that the inevitable consequence is the very general intimidation of the colored race, and insecurity to life and property. He adds that it is a disgrace to the Government and to civilization that such a condition of things exists, and suggests that further orders will be necessary if he is expected to restore peace in that section.

From other sources it is learned in Washington that the White League leaders in that county have already threatened the life of Captain Mills and the destruction of his entire command, which only numbers thirty men.

It is reliably ascertained that since the date of the last Kuklux report there have been sixty political murders in Sumter county.

The White League organization, well armed, equipped, and drilled, number, at least 1,000 men in that county. They can be gathered in twenty-four hours notice. Within a few weeks there were 500 of them in a body assembled at one time at Gainesville, where they seized nineteen negroes on the pretense of resisting officers.

News has been received in Washington that the cotton-gin belonging to Judge Abrahams, of Sumter county, has been burned by the White Leaguers with a loss of some $10,000. Judge Abrahams is one of the three white Republicans in that county, and his only sin is that he has voted the Republican ticket. Billings, who was recently murdered, was killed after making a speech upon the plantation of Judge Abrahams.

OCTOBER.

There comes a month in the weary year—
A month of leisure and healthful rest,
When the ripe leaves fail, and the air is clear—
October, the brown, the crisp, the blest.

My life has little enough of bliss:
I drag the days of the odd eleven,
Counting the time that shall lead to this—
The month that opens the hunter's heaven.

And O for the mornings crisp and white,
With the sweep of the hounds upon the track;
The bark-roofed cabin, the camp-fire's light,
The break of the deer, and the rifle's crack.

Do you call this trifling? I tell you, friend,
A life in the forest is past all praise.
Give me a dozen such months on end—
You may take my balance of years and days.

For brick and mortar breed filth and crime,
And a pulse of evil that throbs and beats;
And men grow withered before their prime
With the curse paved in on the lanes and streets;

And lungs are choked, and shoulders are bowed,
In smothering rock of mill and mine;
And death stalks in on the struggling crowd,
But he shuns the shadow of oak and pine.

And of all to which the memory clings,
There is naught so sweet as the sunny spots
Where our shanties stood by the crystal spring,
The vanished hounds, and the lucky shots.

THE girls of Topeka are resolved "never to lean upon an arm that leans upon a bar," and pledges to that effect are in circulation and obtaining many signatures.

"WELL, Johnny, how are you getting on? How do you like your new master?" "Faith, Miss, I dunno. He's a very excellent man. You can't do too much for him; an' sure, Miss, I don't mane too."

WHEN they told an Indiana woman that her husband had been sliced up by a reaper, she impatiently replied: "Well take the pieces to the barn; I can't leave the gooseberry sauce just now."

Ayer's

Sarsaparilla

Is widely known as one of the most effectual remedies ever discovered for cleansing the system and purifying the blood. It has stood the test of years, with a constantly growing reputation, based on its intrinsic virtues, and sustained by its remarkable cures. So mild as to be safe and beneficial to children, and yet so searching as to effectually purge out the great corruptions of the blood, such as the scrofulous and syphilitic contamination. Impurities or diseases that have lurked in the system for years soon yield to this powerful antidote, and disappear. Hence its wonderful cures, many of which are publicly known, of Scrofula, and all scrofulous diseases, Ulcers, Eruptions, and eruptive disorders of the skin, Tumors, Blotches, Boils, Pimples, Pustules, Sores, St. Anthony's Fire, Rose or Erysipelas, Tetter, Salt Rheum, Scald Head, Ringworm, and internal Ulcerations of the Uterus, Stomach, and Liver. It also cures other complaints, to which it would not seem especially adapted, such as Dropsy, Dyspepsia, Fits, Neuralgia, Heart Disease, Female Weakness, Debility, and Leucorrhœa, when they are manifestations of the scrofulous poisons.

It is an excellent restorer of health and strength in the Spring. By renewing the appetite and vigor of the digestive organs, it dissipates the depression and listless languor of the season. Even where no disorder appears, people feel better, and live longer, for cleansing the blood. The system moves on with renewed vigor and a new lease of life.

ORGANIZE! ORGANIZE!!

We implore you, friends, to organize for victory. We can, this year carry Centre county, if you will only determine to do so, and work earnestly and energetically to accomplish the desired end.

Your earnest attention is directed to the following Act of Assembly, regulating the mode of voting at all elections in the several counties of this Commonwealth:

SEC. 1. Be it enacted by the Senate and House of Representatives of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania in general Assembly met, and it is hereby enacted by the authority of the same, That the qualified voters of the several counties of this Commonwealth, at all the general, township, borough and special elections, are hereby hereafter required to vote by tickets, written or printed, or partly printed and partly written, severally classified, as follows: One ticket shall embrace the names of all Judges of Courts voted for, and to be labelled outside, "Judiciary;" one ticket shall embrace the names of all State officers voted for, labelled "State;" one ticket shall embrace the names of all County officers voted for, including ellos of Senator, member and members of Assembly, if voted for and be labelled "County;" one ticket shall embrace the names of all Township officers voted for, and be labelled "Township;" one ticket shall embrace the names of all Borough officers voted for, and be labelled "Borough;" and each class shall be deposited in separate ballot-

ADDRESS OF THE REPUBLICAN STATE COMMITTEE.

TO THE REPUBLICANS OF PENNSYLVANIA.

You are called upon, once more, to make a stand in defense of your principles. The party which, by its political heresies, plunged this country into a bloody war, stands arrayed against you on precisely the grounds which it occupied in 1860, and proposes to reopen all the old controversies which it was thought had been settled by the war, and it therefore becomes necessary to sustain at the polls the governmental policy which has prevailed under a Republican administration.

"An undefiled and restored Constitution," which is equivalent to the Southern demand for "the Constitution as it was," is what the Democracy of Pennsylvania asks for in the recently issued address of its State Committee. It wants to ignore or rule out the thirteenth, fourteenth, and fifteenth amendments to the Constitution, and restore the Constitution as it stood before the war. It sets up a pretence that those amendments are null and void, and if it should return to power we may naturally look for an attempt to enforce an relapse to the condition of things that existed prior to the Rebellion.

The recent armed uprisings in the South, accompanied by numerous murders, outrages innumerable. open rebellion, and the establishment of a reign of terror to intimidate the unarmed and peaceful citizens, had the full sanction and sympathy of the Northern Democracy, and were plainly but part of a general plan to re-establish the old order of things.

The part of the Northern Democracy is to lull the people into a false securtty, and steal back into place upon false pretences, if possible. The part of the Southern Democracy is to set up a reign of violence, and by such an intimidation of the weak as will keep them from the polls, to install themselves into offices to which they could never otherwise attain. The two work together in perfect harmony, and their joint triumph would utterly annihilate all the beneficial results of the war.

It is the part of the Republicans of Pennsylvania to crush this conspiracy by thoroughly defeating those engaged in it; and they can do this only by rallying heartily to the support of their State ticket, and by cordially supporting their local nomintions, so as to secure the election of a large majority of the Congressmen and a decisive majority in the Legislature.

The people of Pennsylvania do not want to return to "a restored Constitution," or "the Constitution as it was." They do not want to come back again under the insolent rule of the Southern olligarchy, or to put their varied and grand industrial interests at the mercy of the free trade demagogues who control the Democratic party.

But, strong as are their convictions upon this subject, they can enforce them only in one way and that is at the polls. They must elect men in harmony with their well-known views and interests; and this can be done only by securing a thorough defeat of the Democratic party.

The last Democratic State Convention did not dare to open its mouth in favor of protection to American industry, or against the ratification of the Reciprocity Treaty, which is free trade in disguise. It had not the courage to take sides with the party in other States on those questions, and was equally cowardly in declining to take the other side. On the two great questions which involve the material interests of the State, the prosperity of its people, and the development of its wealth, it was as silent as the grave. No one doubts that its sympathies are with the enemies of our material progress, and the rule as good in this case as in every other—"He that is not for us is against us."

If, therefore, the people of Pennsylvania want to defend and promote the growth and prosperity of their State, they will not entrust its destinies to the hands of a party that dare not open its lips in their favor. The Democratic party of the nation is for free trade, and the outspoken part of it is in favor of repudiation; and it is for the people of Pennsylvania to decide whether they will again permit such a party to control, and by controlling to ruin, their future prospects.

The Republican party of the State has had possession of the Government since 1861, and has proved in that time its claim to continued public confidence. It has administered the government honestly, faithfully, enomically, and justly. The State has grown with rapid strides under its fostering care; the laws are everywhere judiciously enforced; and it needs but the maintenance of the protective policy on the part of the National Government, to secure our advance, at an early day, into the front rank of all the States.

When the Republicans assumed the reins of the State Government in 1861 they found a State debt of over $40,000,000, and the breaking out of the Rebellion entailed an immediate addition to that debt of $3,500,000 for arming the people and defending the State, so that they began their administration with the burden of over $43,000,000 of debt. That debt has now been reduced to $24,000,000, a reduction in round numbers of $19,000,000 in thirteen years, or $1,500,000 yearly. This reduction has been accomplished by economy and honesty in the administration of the finances, and not by taxation. The State tax on real estate was repealed in 1866, and that on personal estate in 1873, so that while the State is free from direct taxation it is still rapidly and steadily extinguishing its debt.

This is a handsome record to present, and is a complete answer to all the ridiculous charges that have been trumped up of corruptness and extravagance. The State has never been better or more honestly managed under any administration, and we point to this record with pride in the contrast it presents to the policy which, during the rule of the Democrats, inflicted upon the State a debt of $40,000,000, accompanied with a heavy burden of direct taxation.

We desire to remind our Republican friends that the Legislature to be chosen this fall will have in its hands the election of a United States Senator for six years. It is of the utmost importance, therefore, that, ignoring all cases of local distraction, they shou ld unite actively, firmly, and harmoniously in behalf of their local candidates for the Legislature throughout the State. Every Democrat elected to the Legislature in Republican counties on a local issue, will vote only for a Democrat for United States Senator, and no true Republican will, by his vote, render such a result possible.

We also entreat our friends to pay no heed to the attempt to delude them into the belief that the Republican party is opposed to the new Constitution. It was a Republican State Convention which first demanded a revision of the old Constitution so as to secure the suppression of special legislation; it was a Republican Legislature which called the Constitutional Convention; the Constitutional Convention was itself Republican; it was the Republican vote of the State which secured the adoption of the new Constitution; and it was a Republican Legislature which framed the legislation necessary to carry its provisions into effect. The party record is too clean upon all these points to be questioned or doubted.

The business depression which has fallen upon the country in the past year has been blamed upon the Government and as the effect of Republican policy; but as the same depression was prevalent throughout Europe, it is clear that it must be due to other causes. The country is already rapidly recovering from its effects, a result which, when panics occurred heretofore, required several years to accomplish; and as the only remedy which Democracy offers is free trade and a return to the destructive policy which produced the ruinous revulsions of 1837 and 1857, the people will find it much safer to trust to the policy under which the country is now recuperating than to fall back upon the exploded one that prevailed under Democratic rule.

We earnestly urge upon our friends throughout the Commonwealth to wake up to the real importance of the pending election, and by energetic work to render certain a Republican victory. Such a victory is not to be won by supineness, and folding the hands in careless neglect of the great issues at stake. Victory, if won, must be sought, and not waited for. Active, energetic unflagging effort is assured success. It is not in the power of the Democracy to carry this State of themselves, but carelessness and neglect on our part may aid them.

Organization, work, and the cultivation of a spirit of conciliation and harmony where local differences have prevailed, will accomplish much; and we appeal to the Republicans of the State, as they love their cherished principles, as they are devoted to the promotion of the material interests of the Commonwealth, as they value the preservation of the peace of the Union and its perpetuity, as they desire the permanent establishment of the protective policy, as they value honesty, integrity, and fidelity in their public servants, to put on a fresh zeal for their sacred and righteous cause, to renew their hearty devotion to their principles and the welfare of the country, and by a strong and determined rally at the polls, to crush out at once the hopes of those who would light again the fires of rebellion at the South, and the purpose to co-operate with them which animates their Democratic coadjutors at the North.

By order of Republican State Committee.

RUSSELL ERRETT, Chairman.

BUSINESS NOTICES.

IF Alcoholic stimulents are taken into the blood the heart works faster, and this unnatural speed wears out the vital machinery. All intoxicating nostrums advertised as tonics, renovators, &c., produce this disastrous effect, and should be rejected. Dr. Walker's Vegetable Vinegar Bitters—an Invigorant without the curse of alcohol—is everywhere supplanting these poisons. 37—4w

NOTICE OF MEETING.—The stockholders of the Agricultural College and Junction turnpike will meet at the banking house of John I. Thompson & Co., Lemont, on Monday, Nov. 2, at 10 o'clock A. M., for the purpose of electing officers for the ensuing year.

MOSES THOMPSON.

IF THE DRUGGIST OFFERS any kind of herb-flavored alcohol for dyspesia, billiousness, or any other ailment, tell him that you want medicine, not a bar-room drink. Ask him for Dr. Walker's, California Bitters, the best regulating preparation known, and which you know is free from Satan Elixir. Reject all the fiery Tonics and Appetizers, and cling to that remedy. There is no medicine that compares with it. 37-4w

FINANCE AND TRADE.

GOLD 1.10

The money market in the cities, is steady and call loans, secured by Government bonds are nearly done at the low rate or 2½@3 per cent. per annum. The discount market is quiet at 6@7 per cent for prime paper. The stock market is active, in which there is some speculative feeling in New York. Coming nearer home, we find capital lying idle, or being loaned at numerous rates of interest. There seems to be a corner on greenbacks in all the rural districts. The lumbering interests in this and adjoining counties, are dormant with prospects of reviving the coming winter. The stock on hand is ample to supply the trade for a year to come, after business shall have revived, especially when we come to consider that the Transportation Companies of our State are delivering Michigan lumber in New York at less freight than they carry lumber from the interior of Pa. to that city.

COAL.—The combination of Anthracite Coal operators continue to advance the price of their coal from 10@15 cts per tun at the first of each month and their understanding is such that they will not allow production to exceed consumption. The Bituminous coal men have no such combination, who are selling their coal at prices that will hardly warrant production. In the Osceola region they are only realizing from 80 to 90 cents per tun of 2,000 lb on board of cars at the chutes.

GRAIN.—The price of wheat in the West is tending downward. On last Friday Corn and Oats took a turn downward, concerning which we copy the following from the New York Tribune.

Commercial circles were excited yesterday by the announcement of the failure of a combination which had been formed for the purpose of controlling the market for oats and for speculating in other grains. The head and front of the combination was a firm in Burlington, Iowa, named Edgar & Co., who had made reputation last Summer by a successful operation in oats, which gave them control of the market and enabled them to dictate the price. The firm were connected with several New York houses, only two of which, however, have succumbed to the demands made upon them by reasons of their relations. As far as can be ascertained, Edgar & Co. are young men of great shrewdness and considerable merchantile ability, but extremely speculative in their tendencies. Last Summer they made a successful venture in oats which netted them a profit variously estimated at between $25,000 and $50,000. It appears that upon looking into the matter Edgar & Co found that before the new crop of oats could come into market the supply of the old crop would not be equal to the demand. They therefore ordered the purchase of all the oats that could be obtained. These purchases were quietly made, and by the time the rest of the dealers became aware of the situation Edgar and & Co. controlled the market, and advanced the price 50 per cent, to the consternation of owners of horses who could not understand the cause. Emboldened by their success, the firm continued their operations in corn, oats, and other cereals, but the good fortune which they expected did not come, and they were forced to suspend. Mr. Edgar was in this city during the earlier part of this week, and received a telegram which informed him that there was serious trouble with his firm. He hastened home, but could not stop the unfavorable tide which had set in, and on Tuesday his paper was allowed to go to protest in this city.

This paper was the means of involving the firms of J. Lathrop & Co. and Lathrop & Engs. These gentlemen, as before stated, had been the agents of Edgar & Co., and to assist them had become liable, by their indorsement, for a quantity of "accommodation" paper yet out by Edgar & Co. When the paper was presented payment was refused, and the usual protest followed. The New York merchants involved are gentlemen well known in the Produce Exchange.

Grain and Flour Markets.

BELLEFONTE, Oct. 21st, 1874.

The supply of wheat has somewhat increased during the week and the price is weak at our quotations. Rye, corn and oats have reached the maximum price. The bubble that covered their grains in the west, burst on Friday last, with fearful results. The millers here are now declining consignments of oats from the west at our quotations. It is said the grain is of superior quality. The demand for feed in the lumber regions the coming winter will be very limited, for there will be little or nothing done. Not only this, but we are reliably informed that there is a better crop in Clearfield county than ever before. There is no definite price fixed yet for new corn, the quotations we make are on rumor. To those who have old corn, we say sell, as the price will be no higher.

NEW ADVERTISEMENTS.

A REPRESENTATIVE AND CHAMPION OF AMERICAN ART TASTE!

Prospectus for 1875—Eighth Year.

THE ALDINE,

THE ART JOURNAL OF AMERICA,

Issued Monthly.

"A Magnificent Conception, wonderfully carried out."

The necessity of a popular medium for the representation of the productions of our great artists, has always been recognized, and many attempts have been made to meet the want. The successive failures which so invariably followed each attempt in this country to establish an art journal, did not prove that indifference of the people of America to the claims of high art. So soon as a proper appreciation of the want and an ability to meet it were shown, the public at once rallied with enthusiasm to its support, and the result was a great artistic and commercial triumph—THE ALDINE.

THE ALDINE, while issued with the regularity, has none of the temporary or timely interest characteristic of ordinary periodicals. It is an elegant miscellany of pure, light, and graceful literature; and a collection of pictures, the rarest specimens of artistic skill, in black and white. Although each succeeding number affords a fresh pleasure to its friends, the real value and beauty of the THE ALDINE will be most appreciated after it is bound up at the close of the year. While other publications may claim superior cheapness, as compared with rivals of a similar class, THE ALDINE is a unique and original conception—alone and unapproached—absolutely with out conception in price or character. The possessor of a complete volume can not duplicate the quantity of fine paper and engravings in any other shape or number of volumes for ten times its cost; and then, there is the chromo, besides!

The national feature of THE ALDINE must be taken in no narrow sense. True art is cosmopolitan. While THE ALDINE is a strictly American institution, it does not confine itself entirely to the reproduction of native art. Its mission is to cultivate a broad and appreciative art taste, one that will discriminate only on grounds of intrinsic merit. Thus, while placing before the patrons of THE ALDINE, as a leading characteristic, the productions of the most noted American artists, attention will always be given to specimens from foreign masters, giving subscribers all the pleasure and instruction obtainable from home or foreign sources.

The artistic illustration of American scenery, original with THE ALDINE, is an important feature, and its magnificent plates are of a size more appropriate to the satisfactory treatment of details than can be afforded by any inferior page. The judicial interspertion of landscape, marine, figure, and animal subjects, sustain an unabated interest, impossible where the scope of the work confines the artist too closely to a single style of subject. The literature of THE ALDINE is a light and graceful accomplishment, worthy of the artistic features with only such technical disquisitions as do not interfere with the popular interest of the work.

PRDMIUMS FOR 1875.

Every subscriber for 1875 will receive a beautiful portrait, in oil colors of the same noble dog whose picture in a former issue attracted so much attention.

"MAN'S UNSELFISH FRIEND"

will be welcome in every home. Everybody loves such a dog, and the portrait is executed so true to the life, that it seems the vertible presence of the animal itself. The Rev. T. De Witt Talmage tells that his own Newfoundland dog (the finest in Brookland) barks at it! Although so natural, no one who sees this premium chromo will have the slightest fear of being bitten.

Besides the chromo, every advance subscriber to THE ALDINE for 1875 is constituted a member, and entitled to all the privileges of

THE ALDINE ART UNION.

The Union owns the originals of all THE ALDINE pictures, which with other paintings and engravings, are to be distributed among the members. To every series of 5,000 subscribers, 100 different pieces, valued at $2,500 are distributed as soon as the series is full, and the awards of each series as made, are to be published in the next number of THE ALDINE This feature only applies to subscribers who pay for one year in advance. Full particulars in circulars sent on application enclosing a stamp.

TERMS.

One Supscription, entitling to THE ALDINE one year, the Chromo and Art Union,

$6.00 PER ANNUM, IN ADVANCE.

(No charge for postage.)

SPECIMEN COPIES OF THE ALDINE 50 CENTS

THE ALDINE will, hereafter, be obtainable only by subscription. There will be no reduced or club rates; cash for subscriptions must be sent to the publishers direct, or handed to the local canvasser, without responsibility to the publisher, except in cases where the certificate is given bearing the fac-simile signature of James Sutton, President.

On the other side of the road is the other house containing eight rooms with good barn and out buildings. This farm could be divided into two parts, and will be if purchasers so desire, making one containing 130 acres with the large house, and the other containing 36 acres with the small house. NOTE.—We earnestly desire that this department of our paper shall be made as useful as possible to our Agricultural friends, and therefore extend a cordial invitation to all parties interested, to favor us with contributions. Individuals who have made useful experiments and yet do not feel competent to write them out in form for publication, if they will favor us with the results we will take pleasure in putting them in proper shape.

Fall Work and Spring Work.

At this season of the year the farmer finds his efforts being called in two directions—one is in harvesting the crops and clearing up the work of the year; the other in making preparations for the work of another opening season. The former is of course the most pressing and must of necessity receive the greater attention. Crops upon which the farm stock is to be fed, and the farmer's family kept through the winter, must be secured from loss, and harvested to preserve and retain their valuable properties for future use. The man who at this season of the year, would neglect to gather his crops, and lay up a store for winter needs—would certainly be regarded as a very poor farmer, and wanting in foresight and regard for his family. But the progressive and business farmer will not be satisfied with simply performing the labors of the season necessary upon the harvesting of the maturing crops—he will also give attention to work which may be advantageously performed now, and which will at the same time forward the work of the coming spring. To the man who makes a business of farming, there is no season of year when his efforts are to stop, none when he can say he has nothing to do. Even in the comparative leisure of winter, there are, most of the time, jobs which may be performed to advantage to relieve the pressure of some other busy season. Even the cold weather of autumn should not deter the farmer from undertaking new jobs of work. The spring, when will be realized the benefit of these labors, is not far off, and he is certainly wanting in faith who refuses to perform work now, if he has time to do it, which must be done in spring at all events.

To the work which may be done this fall which will forward the labors of the opening season, farmers should therefore give some attention. Fall plowing not only of sward-land, but of grain stubble and corn hill, may be advantageously performed now—and such pieces as are to be sown to wheat should be fully prepared this fall to receive the seed early another spring. The necessity of the complete fall preparation of land for wheat, need not be fully set forth; as its advantages have been so well tested by many good farmers, as to need no encouragement from us. In regard for land for other crops, it would be well if autumn preparations of the same were more fully practiced. Especially would it be found useful on land generally wet in spring, and upon which teams could not well move at a time when it should be worked to receive the crop. Manure may also be hauled out of the yards to better advantage now than in spring; and if fences are to be changed or rebuilt, much of the work consequent upon it can be done better in fall, even if put off till quite late, than in the spring. The weather is now cool, and although the days are short, yet teams and men will accomplish more in a day now, than in the warm, languid weather of spring-time. While the crops should be secured and all the work of the closing season "snugged up;" yet the prudent farmer will also have his eyes open to what will forward the labors of the coming seed-time which may be done now—and he will "go for it" with all the energy and purpose he is able to direct towards it.

HOW TO FEED RYE.—We have fed rye to horses and cows as green fodder, cut when coming into car, in which state it is very excellent feed. To feed rye that has been cut ripe we would thrash it, grind the grain along with corn or oats, cut the straw in a fodder cutter, moisten it with water, sprinkle a handful of salt and three quarts of the ground feed upon a large pailful of the moist cut straw. This makes a very good feed for on ordinary-sized horse when working moderately.

A KENTUCKY exchange says, with the beginning of the year will reduce our business to a basis. Cord wood and potaen for subscription."

EXPLANATION AND ELABORATION

OF WANAMAKER & BROWN'S NEW PLAN.

1st POINT. "CASH." Houses doing a credit business must provide for losses on bad debts, interest on long-standing accounts, capital locked up, etc. To bear such losses themselves would drive them out of business. Therefore a per cent. is added to the price of each article sold, to cover this leakage, and Cash Buyers whether they know it or not, really pay the bad debts and the interest on the long credits of the other customers!! Under the Cash Payment system one pays only for what he gets, and contributes nothing to a "Sinking Fund."

By this Radical Change we shall lose some of our customers no doubt, but we will gain ten where we lose one, the advantages being so great to all who can avail themselves of them. So we say

CASH THROUGHOUT.

Bring Money for Clothing, and we will supply it at prices possible under no other plan.

2d POINT. "ONE PRICE." The fairness of this feature of our plan all will praise. It is simply treating all alike—exacting nothing from indisposition to bargain or ignorance, and, at the same time, conceding all that shrewdness on the shrewdest customer's part could possibly extort, because the "One Price" which we mark on our goods, shall invariably be

NOT the "First" Price, but the LAST and LOWEST PRICE.
NOT the "TOP" Price, but the VERY BOTTOM PRICE.

In other words, Salesmen or "Headmen," have never been allowed, under ordinary circumstances, to fall below a certain figure! It is at that, or at a lower figure that we now determine to mark our goods, calculating the cost to the exact penny, and fixing the price at the low minimum profit on which business on a large scale can be conducted.

We know that the larger business we aim for and anticipate, will require a large increase in the number of customers, and we shall therefore see to it that the "One Price" is based on the Smallest Profit, calculated to the exact and lowest penny, which will not be difficult to do with universal Cash Payment for the rule. The price will be marked in plain figures and no alteration allowed.

NOTE.—Whenever the exigencies of the season, the state of trade, or the money market may demand, the right is reserved to go through our stock before or after business hours and mark down any lot or lots of goods, changing the figures on all the labels, so that the new rates are the same to all, and all buy alike at the mark down prices.

WANAMAKER & BROWN WILL NEVER HOLD THEIR GOODS.

3d POINT. "Full Guarantee." A printed Guarantee, bearing the signature of our firm, will accompany each garment as a Warrantee. This binds us in every sense, and will be honored as quickly as a good draft of the Government of the United States. This is a sample of the Full Guarantee, and tells its own story:

GUARANTEE.

We hereby guarantee

1st. That the prices of our goods shall be as low as the same quality of material and manufacture are sold anywhere in the United States.
2d. That the prices are precisely the same to everybody for same quality, on same day of purchase.
3d. That the quality of goods is as represented on printed labels.
4th. That the full amount of cash paid will be refunded, if customers find the articles unsatisfactory, and return them unworn and uninjured within 10 days of date of purchase.

[Signed,] WANAMAKER & BROWN,
OAK HALL,
Sixth and Market Streets, Phila.

DATE,.....

4th POINT. "Cash Returned." This is simply a concession on our part to our customers, to secure them full confidence in dealing for goods they know very little about, and we thus prevent any occasion for dissatisfaction from any and every cause whatsoever. If the garment is not exactly what you thought, if your taste changes, if the "home folks" prefer another color or another shape, if you find you can buy the same material and style elsewhere for less money, if you conclude you don't need it after you get home, if the season changes suddenly and you wish you had not bought it, bring it back unworn and uninjured, and the full amount of money you paid will be returned on the spot. What more can we do for our customers than this, when we make our clothing so that they can draw the money value with it equally as well as with a check on the bank?

MEDICAL.

CHEROKEE REMEDY.

THE GREAT INDIAN DIURETIC.
INFINITELY SUPERIOR TO BUCHU.

Nine tenths of the human family suffer, directly or indirectly, at one time or other, from diseases or irregularities of the generative system, while the victims of indiscretion, and of quack treatment, are comparatively numerous.

The idea that patients cannot treat themselves successfully in these cases, has long ago been exploded. A good and reliable medicine, prepared by an experienced physician, from the original Indian Recipe, that is guaranteed to effect a
SPEEDY AND RADICAL CURE.
can be as safely relied upon as the prescription of the most skillful practitioner. Such a medicine is the celebrated
CHEROKEE REMEDY.
Full directions accompany each bottle, and if they are carefully followed, a quick and permanent cure is guarranted. Price $2.00 per bottle.
THE CHEROKEE INJECTION, should always be used in conjunction with the Remedy for both incipient and obstinate cases of Gonorrhœa. Price $2.00 per bottle.
CHEROKEE CURE
for seminal weakness (spermatorrhœa), is a simple vegetable medicine that was used for many years in the practice of the physician who first gave the remedy to the public. It has effected cures that would scarcely be credited except on ocular evidence of the fact. Full directions, with pamphlet containing all particulars of symptoms, treatment, &c., accompany each bottle. Price $2.00 per bottle. Sold everywhere.
CHEROKEE PILLS.
These Pill are prepared expressly for the cure of those irregularities to which ladies are subject, and will be found safe, reliable and effectual, for the cure of Suppression, Green Sickness, Pain in the Back, Hysteria, Sick Headache, &c., &c. Price $1.00 per box.

Heimstreet's Hair Restorative,

OR INIMITABLE HAIR COLORING.
NOT A DYE.—Heimstreet's "Hair Coloring is not a Dye, and its operation is not by any chemical effect, but by a natural restoration of the glands, thus giving the hair the color it originally had.
NATURALNESS.—When the hair is dyed, its color is leaden hued and unnatural, but when restored by HEIMSTREET'S HAIR COLORING, its appearance is so perfectly natural that no one can detect the use of any Restorative.
STAINLESS.—While the Restorative acts promptly on the hair, it leaves no stain or mark whatever on the skin. It is composed of ingredients that form a perfect dressing as well as a coloring, so that no oils, &c., are necessary.
THIS MOST EFFECTIVE of all the Hair Restorers is for sale by all druggists at 50 cents and $1.00 per bottle. Numerous certificates from those who have used it are in the possession of the proprietors.

PARK'S BALSAM
OR WILD CHERRY AND TAR.

BALSAM.—Nothing is more soothing to the irritated membranes than the pure BALSAMS of which this medicine is composed.
WILD CHERRY.—The true bark of Wild Cherry is an unfailing specific for all throat and pectorial diseases.
TAR.—The wonderful healing properties of Tar when united with the other ingredients, render PARK'S BALSAM the most efficient Cough Medicine ever offered to the public.
CONSUMPTION.—The many cases of Consumption that have been cured justify us in the assertion that it is the very best medicine for that disease ever discovered.
CERTIFICATES OF CURES.
STEPHEN FISK, of New York, says his daughter had consumption, and terbucles had formed in her lungs. He was induced to try Park's Balsam, which effected a speedy cure.
T. EDWARD FLEET, of Brooklyn says, I think it is the best medicine for affections of the lungs I ever used.
G. S. FANCHER, of New York says, I feel fully persuaded that Park's Balsam has saved my life.
We have in our possession hundreds of certificates from others, and all of the same cheering import. Price 50 cents and $1.00 per bottle. Sold by druggists and dealers everywhere.

EGYPTIAN
Rat and Vermin Destroyer

FOR EXTERMINATING RATS, MICE, WATER BUGS, ROUCHES, RED ANTS, &c.

STRENGTH.—When a Rat tastes the Egyptian Destroyer, his death warrant is signed, sure. It cannot fail to kill. It also creates great thirst, and the rat will search for water out of doors, and not die in his hole, to cause a stench that cannot be got out.
ATTRACTIVENESS.—Rats are the shrewdest of vermin. It is hard to get them to eat poison. An ingredient in the Egyption Destroyer is a perfect bait, and they are attracted rather than freightened be it. "Rats (not children) cry for it.
KEEPING SOFT.—People know how the ordinary Rat Pastes dry up and become useless, causing annoyance and loss. The Egyptian Destroyer is fully warranted to keep soft, fresh and effective in any climate for years.
SURE DEATH.—The Egyptian Destroyer kills every time. Hundreds of unsolicited testimonials are now in the hands of the proprietors, substantiating its great merits as the best preparation for destroying Vermin in the world. Be sure and ask for the "Egyptian," and take no other.
Put up in large glass bottles. Price, 25 cts. Sold by Druggists everywhere.

MEDICAL.

Wright's Rejuvenating Elixer.

For the restoration of Nature's forces. It gives new life and vigor to the aged, and causes the blood of youth to course through the veins. It effectually cures Impotency, Palpitation of the Heart, Loss of Muscular Power, Low Spirits, Disorganization of the Generative Organs, and all the train of ills that follow in the path of the transgressor of Nature's laws. Price $2 per bottle.
It will be readily understood that in the brief space afforded by the advertising columns of a public print, it is impossible to give all particulars of the diseases that may be cured by the CHEROKEE MEDICINES. That they are destined to become immensely popular is plainly obvious in consequence of their GREAT INTRINSIC MERIT.
The pamphlet and circulars that accompany the medicines give all the information which cannot be given here, and the remedies may be had of any respectable druggist.

ELAINE
AS AN ILLUMINATOR.
WHY IT IS THE SAFEST.

ELAINE will not explode while burning in a lamp, nor in any other way, as it does not contain any of the explosive compounds so frequently met with in the ordinary oil for illuminating. A lamp, filled with ELAINE, if upset or accidently broken, will not explode or burn. There is no position in which you can put a lamp filled with ELAINE, for common use, in which it will explode. As no other illuminator has such advantages of safety, ELAINE IS CERTAINLY THE SAFEST FAMILY ILLUMINATING OIL KNOWN.

——The Baltimore Opera Cigar of which I have received the sole agency for this place is the best cigar ever offered for 5 cents. ——At a meeting of creditors of McGirk & Perks, at their banking house, on Saturday last, a proposition was made to pay all claims at seventy-five cents in the dollar, in four annual instalments, with interest, which was accepted by the heaviest creditors present and which bids fair to receive the assent of a sufficient number to make it binding of settlement.—Journal.

——Centre County Sunday School Institute convened at Meek's M. E. Church, September 25, 1874, at two o'clock P. M., Prof Hamilton in the chair. On motion I. P. Campbell was elected Recording Secretary.

Exercises opened with singing, prayer and reciting the "Psalm of Praise" as found on the prepared lesson leaf. Mr. S. Atlee, Superintendent of the Sunday school at Meek's Church, was called upon to state the condition and progress of the school, which he did briefly, showing that the school was in a prosperous conditon. The Sunday school is in progress only during the summer months.

Rev. Crittenden was then introduced and proceeded to state his relation and duties to Sabbath schools in this and adjoining counties. Spoke of the importance of and benefit derived from these institutes. Spoke very encouragingly of the Sunday school work, and urged the importance of still greater effort in this direction. He then briefly addressed the children, expressing regrets that there were not more present.

"Importance of committing Scripture," "Hindrances to success in the Sabbath school work," where subjects discussed during the afternoon, by Dr. Vantries, Rev. Norcross, Prof. Hamilton and others.

Evening session convened at 7½ P. M, with a very good attendance. Some time was spent in prayer and in reciting Scripture promises.

"Faithful prayer essential to spiritual success in the Sunday school work," "Why should Sunday school be kept open during the winter months,' "How many parents help the Sunday school," "Should the Sunday school be confined to the children alone. "How do you study the Sunday school lesson," were the titles of the topics discussed during the evening session by Revs. Norcross and Crittenden, Prof. Hamilton, S. Atlee, and I. P. Campbell. Much interest was manifested during the evening, a full interchange of views was had, and all seemed to consider the meeting profitable.

During the afternoon session the following resolution was adopted:

Resolved, That we will try to commit at least one small portion of Scrip ture daily.

Before adjourning a vote of thanks was tendered Rev. R. Crittenden and Prof. Hamilton.

September 26, Institute convened at Centre Furnace, Prof. Hamilton in the chair. I. P. Campbell was elected Secretary. About the same subjects were discussed as on the previous day; Rev. Crittenden, Prof. Hamilton, Prof. Collier, Prof. Dean, William Thompson, Dr. Thomas, I. P. Campbell and others taking part. The attendance was very good during both sessions, and an excellent spirit pervaded the entire proceedings. The resolution passed on the previous day was passed with the following amendment: "That we recommend, &c., Prof. Hamilton, Pres."

I. P. CAMPBELL,
Sec'y pro tem.

——The proposed Keating and Karthouse railroad will in all probability, prove a success. This will extend from Karthouse, in Clearfield county, to Keating station in Clinton, a distance of sixteen miles. The road if completed between those two points, will open up a considerable district of ore, coal and timber lands, and will be a god-send to land owners in that almost totally undeveloped region. There is no doubt that this road will be a great advantage to Burnside and other adjoining townships of this county. It is also proposed to extend the road from Karthouse to Philipsburg a distance of about twenty two miles. Should this project be consummated it will be of almost incalculable advatage to the upper end of Centre County. From the Enterprise, we learn that a meeting was held in Lock Haven on the 15th inst to complete arrangements for organizing a company and going to work immediately. Col. A. C. Noyes was called to the chair and S. R. Peale Esq., acted as Secretary. On motion of Judge Mayer a committee of twenty-four gentlemen, was appointed to solicit subscriptions to the capital stock of the proposed company. Messrs Edward Blanchard and David W. Hall, of this county were put on the committee. A subscription book was opened and $33,000 subscribed at once.

WORLD'S DAY OF PRAYER FOR SUNDAY SCHOOLS.—We call the attention of all christian people in Centre county to the fact that next Sabbath, Oct. 25th, is appointed as a day of "universal prayer" for Sunday Schools. It is hoped that christian ministers, teachers and others, in all parts of the country, will unite their supplications at their regular services on this day, and wherever possible at meetings specially called for this purpose. It is a happy circumstance in our own country, that on the Sabbath named, many Sunday Schools will add their contributions to their prayers in behalf of this branch of christian effort.

——Gen. Beaver and family returned home Saturday evening from an extended trip to the eastern cities.

——The best, largest and cheapest stock of children's winter shoes in town for sale by BURNSIDE & THOMAS.

Show your last year's tax receipt to the election officers and they are bound to let you vote.

——Don't send your children, under the legal age, to the Public schools. The law requires them to be six years of age and the common schools are not intended to be used as nurseries for infants.

——The gunning season has opened and we begin to hear of sad and fatal accidents. Every one should remember that too much care cannot be observed in handling a gun, and the weapon should never, under any circumstances, be pointed at anybody.

——The silver horn which was to be presented to the best brass band in the county, attending the Fair, was not awarded, owing to the fact that nobody would take the responsibility of deciding which was the best. This, in itself, is a high compliment to our county bands: they were all so excellent that no committee would decide in favor of any one of them.

——Don't spend your money away from home. Buy your clothes, groceries, farming tools, everything you need, at home. Spend your money with your friends and neighbors and all will get a benefit from it. It passes from one to another, paying debts and helping everybody. Keep your money at home and you will build up your own town and county and prosper yourself.

——Gen. R D Cummings of the Merchants Hotel, Philadelphia, was in town yesterday, which is why we remark that our Centre county friends, visiting the Quaker City, will find the Merchants the hotel for them to stop at. It is centrally located, is as good as the best in the city, and the General always takes pleasure in entertaining his friends from his native County.

——While Messrs. A. V. Hoyt and George Long were running the lines along the tract of land owned by Mr. Long on the Moshannon Branch, as they were proceeding over a portion of the Franklin Collieries, they suddenly felt the earth sinking beneath their feet and saw the tall hemlock trees bowing to each other and their tops approaching as if to embrace, and concluded that they had urgent business elsewhere.—Journal.

——Messrs. William Thompson, G. Potter, A. G. Curtin, Jr., and several other of Bellefonte's nice young men went to Lewisburg early this week to marry the first of their number to a fair young lady of the latter place. By the way, our young Centre Countians seem determined to get their wives some place along the shores of the Susquehanna. Milton, Williamsport, Lock Haven, Mill Hall, are the next localities to be heard from.

——We call the attention of our readers to the advertisement, in another column, of Messrs. Wilson and Hicks, hardware merchants on Allegheny street. Their large and handsomely stocked establishment was never so replete with wares as at the present time. There is not an article in the trade that they cannot furnish. Parties who have been in the habit of sending to the city for supplies in the hardware line can buy them at once of Wilson & Hicks, at better prices than they even can in Philadelphia, taking into consideration transportation charges and retail rates. Remember, Wilson & Hicks, Allegheny street, Bellefonte.

——Owing to the fact that unfavorable weather interfered so seriously with the financial success of the late County Fair, a number of premiums have been donated to the Society. The following persons have notified the Secretary that they would not lift their premiums, which, in all amount to $46,00:

Michael Confer, Mrs Rebecca B Curtin, Mrs Tillie Clark, Mrs M R Harris, Mrs Emma Klinger, Solomon Peck, Miss Mary Switzer, Mrs R B Valentine, Miss Claroline Valentine, Mrs W P Wilson State College, Abraham V Miller, Mrs Valentine.

——All the races that were arranged for the several days of the County Fair, and which were postponed on account of bad weather, were consolidated and postponed till the following Tuesday.

The wheelbarrow, fat-man's and other two-footed performances did not come off. The best horse on the ground was L. G. Smith's "Kate Keller" which won the race free to all horses and purse of $100.00; best time 3.01¼.

James McClure's spotted horse won in the running race. The double team race was won by Jim Hale's team; best time 3.36. The day was cold and blustering and not very many people were present. About sixty dollars we believe was taken in at the gate.

MESSRS. EDITORS.—I notice by a paper from an adjoining county that Hon. L. A. Mackey, the Democratic candidate for Congress, declares that as president of the B. E. Valley railroad, he has no power to control the rates of freight charged thereon; that it has been rented to the Penna. Central for ninety-nine years and therefore it would be impossible for him to control the rates of freight or other charges and that therefore he should not be blamed for what he cannot help. Will you please inform the public that this is not the fact. It is true the road is leased to the Penn. Central Company for ninety-nine years, but one of the principal provisions of the lease is that the president, other officers, and the directors of the road shall have the power to fix the rates of freight charges. Let the voters who patronize the B. E. V. railroad remember that the exhorbitant charges for transportation thereon is due to President Mackey and the directors of the road.

It is said that Mr. Mackey is a liberal man, that he is a good business man and an able financier. I believe he is. I could call to mind many evidences of his liberality, but thinking people said they were bids for popularity. But to show you that he is a good business man and an able financier, let me refer you again to the B. E. V. railroad. After the road was built and over $300,000.00 of the people's money put into it, Mr. Mackey and other officers and managers allowed it to go into bankruptcy. Work was suspended on the line, the stock depreciated under the direction of Mr. Mackey and his friends, until it was finally sold in Philadelphia for twenty-three thousand dollars, and Mr. Mackey bought it. Now place an estimate on the value of the road, and then, answer me, is not L. A. Mackey a good financier?

I want to speak a word of warning to the farmers of Penns Valley. Look out that L. A. Mackey, your candidate for Congress, don't get hold of the railroad you are building through your beautiful valley and sell you out in the same manner he did the people of Bald Eagle Valley. Elevate him to Congress if you like, but don't trust him with your railroad or he might sell you out in Philadelphia for a song as he did the B. E. V. road. If you want an "able financier," Mackey is your man.

VINDEX.

——A correspondent from Marsh Creek sends us an account of an interesting scene at the close of Divine service at one of the churches in that vicinity a few Sunday evenings ago. A young man while walking away from the sanctuary with his girl, was accosted by a rival who attempted, at first, by words, to scare the first "lovyer" away; this failing, he threatened violence. Then the young man of the first part laid aside his coat and fought manfully for his rights. A friend of lover No. 2 came upon the scene and rallied to his support. But he didn't rally long. They were both badly worsted and before they were thrashed as completely as they would have been, had they remained a short time longer, fled to the woods and No. 1 marched off triumphantly with his lady love, who stood by and witnessed the battle with a solicitude that deepened into delight when the enemy took to the forest.

——On last Wednesday evening the Jennie Carroll troupe appeared in Reynold's Opera House in Mr. Hi Henry's original society play "Woman against Woman," which evinces decided evidence of ability in the author as a dramatist. The plot engages the interest of the audience from the start and must increase as the play proceeds. The incident of the elopement and five years separation is not new those who have read Florence Maryatt's novel, but the listener is entirely unprepared for the lingering denouement which develops in the third and subsequent acts. The play is divested of the "atrocious villians" and other unnatural garbage, and presents a correct portraiture which points a moral. The caste was excellent and the music very good. On the following evening "Man and Wife" was presented, which is old and rather good.

——We are having a surfeit of shows in Bellefonte this fall, Billy Rouse was the first, followed by the Carroll troupe, which together occupied near two weeks. On Monday evening the Zanfretta's Pantomime combination occupied Reynold's Hall, and, last evening the Democratic Aggregation, with Wallace and Mackey as end men, showed to a large audience in the Court House. Next on the bill boards are Signor Blitz and the Bergner family of bell ringers.

——S. S. Seely has retired from the Jersey Shore "Herald. A young relative of the Colonel's, C. B. Seely, has taken charge. Impaired health induced him give up the business and he will spend the winter in recruiting and collecting old newspaper accounts.

THE REPUBLICAN CONFERENCES.—The Republican Congressional Conferees of the twentieth District met in convention on Wednesday, Oct. 14th, at the Bush House in the Borough of Bellefonte. Being called to order, Jno. D. Stratton, Esq., was chosen President, and Jas. H. Rankin, Esq., Secretary.

The following Conferees were present:

Centre, Robt. Valentine, Andrew Gregg, James H. Rankin.

Clinton, Jno. D. Stratton, W. A. White, T. C. Tripple.

Clearfield, D. W. McCurdy, J. C. Henderson, J. M. Ross.

Union, C. S. Wolf.

Elk and Mifflin were not represented.

Mr. Hipple, of Clinton, gave reasons for not presenting the name of Gen. Jesse Merrill, for whom they were instructed, and presented the following letter which was read:

LOCK HAVEN, PA., Oct. 13, 1874.

To Messrs. T. C. Hipple, J. D. Stratton and W. A. White, Esqs., Representatives of Clinton county in the Congressional Conference to nominate a Republican candidate for the Twentieth District, Gentlemen:

You will please not present my name to the Conference as a candidate for the Congressional nomination in this District. To the Republicans of my own county, I return my thanks for the honor of having named me. I heartily thank the Republicans of Clearfield county, who (I am informed) have designated me as their choice for a candidate. I decline the nomination, because I have not time to make the canvass I would make if I should accept. The duty I owe to those whose interests I have in charge professionally, would prevent that, and induces me to make this declination. Union and Mifflin counties have instructed for gentlemen whom I know are staunch Republicans, and in selecting either of them you will give us a standard bearer that our party will honor itself in supporting. I will join heartily, gentlemen, in support of the person whom you name as our candidate, and will give my utmost endeavors to his election. Respectfully yours,

JESSE MERRILL.

Mr. Wolf, of Union, stated that he was instructed to cast his vote for Gen. Merrill first, and second for Scott Klingan, Esq., and gave his reasons for not presenting the name of either.

After a full discussion of the situation and a free exchange of opinion as to the most expedient course to be pursued, on motion the following resolution was adopted:

Resolved, That this Convention deem it inexpedient to make a nomination for Congress at this time, and that we now adjourn to meet at the call of the President.

Adjourned.

JOHN D. STRATTON, President.
JAS. H. RANKIN, Secretary.

Clinton, W. C. Holahan, J. D. Stratton, and J. W. Harris.

Centre, S. H. Yocum, S. D. Gray and E. M. Blanchard.

On motion of W. C. Holahan, E. M. Blanchard, Esq., of Bellefonte, was elected Chairman. On motion, W. C. Holahan was elected Secretary.

The Chairman stated that the nomination for a person to fill the office of Additional Law Judge was now in order.

S. D. Gray, Esq., of Bellefonte, nominated Hon. J. B. McEnally. On motion his nomination was made by acclamation.

J. W. Harris, Esq., of Clinton, then offered the following resolutions, which were unanimously adopted:

Resolved, That in the nomintion of Hon. J. B. McEnally for the responsible office of Additional Law Judge for this Judicial District, we have reason to know that we have consulted the wishes and promoted the best interests of the majority of the honest men throughout the entire District without respect.

Resolved, That while we are free to pledge to Hon. J. B. McEnally the entire Republican vote of our respective counties we nominate him with the conscientious conviction that the office is one which rises above party politics, and especially the one where the office must seek the man and not the man the office. That we have selected him, knowing him to be a man whose nobility of character, and superior professional ability, will enable him, if elected, to lay aside partizan prejudices and to administer justice without fear, favor or affection, and that for these reasons we urgently request him to accept the nomination.

Resolved, That a committee be appointed to wait on the Hon. J. B. McEnally and present him with a copy of these resolutions, and to urge upon him the importance of accepting the nomination.

The Chair appointed on the committee W. C. Holahan and J. D. Stratton, of Clinton county, S. H. Yocum, Esq., of Bellefonte, and J. C. Henderson, of Clearfield county, with instructions that they proceed at once to the discharge of their duties.

On motion, adjourned.

E. M. BLANCHARD, Chairman.

DIED.

At Millesburg, 15th inst., Mary Swyers, wife of John Swyers, in the 93rd year of her age.

At Salona, Clinton Co., Hattie E. McCormick, aged 20 years, 1 month and 20 days.

During the winter of 1866-7, Miss McCormick occupied a position as teacher in our borough schools, and there are many of our people to whom this information of her death will be most painful. There are many of her old pupils here, now young men and women grown, who remember "Miss Hattie," as they fondly called her, as their ideal teacher. She was singularly endowed for the duties of an instructor of youth. Possessed of bright intellect, a mild and winning disposition, and the sunniest of faces. She was the general favorite with old and young. We knew her for many years; and for many months were classmates at the same school. She was the ideal student, loving, kind, self-sacrificing and sensible. She seemed continually to have before her an ideal womanhood which she strove faithfully and prayerfully to attain to. At home she was the joy and consolation of her widowed mother; and nobly and well she performed the offices of an elder sister, none know so well as the two brothers she has left behind. Although possessed of an ample competence, yet such was her brave, earnest, religious zeal to live a life that, when she died the world might be the better for her living, she chose voluntarily, the duties of teacher. And these perplexing duties she fulfilled with a fidelity and a religious zeal that will gild and adorn her memory in every community where her labors were performed. Her life was a labor of love. The christian graces which adorned her superior qualities of mind and heart will always linger in our remembrance. Alas, that the casket which held a jewel so brilliant, should so soon be mingled with the dust of the tomb!

CONSUMPTION CAN BE CURED
SCHENCK'S PULMONIC SYRUP,
SCHENCK'S SEA WEED TONIC,
SCHENCK'S MANDRAKE PILLS,

Are the only medicines that will cure Pulmonary Consumption.

Frequently medicines that will stop a cough will occasion the death of the patient; they lock up the liver, stop the circulation of the blood, hemorrhage follows, and in fact, they clog the action of the very organs that cause the cough.

Liver Complaint and Dyspepsia are the causes of two-thirds of the cases of Consumption. Many persons complain of a dull pain in the side, constipation, coated tongue, pain in the shoulder-blade, feelings of drowsiness and restlessness, the food lying heavily upon the stomach, accompanied with acidity and belching up of wind.

These symptoms usually originate from a disordered condition of the stomach or a torpid liver.

Persons so effected, if they take one or two heavy colds, and if the cough in these cases be suddenly checked, will find the stomach and liver clogged, remaining turpid and inactive, and almost before they are aware the lungs are a mass of sores, and ulcerated, the result of which is death.

Schenck's Pulmonic Syrup is an expectorant which does not contain opium or anything calculated to check the cough suddenly.

Schenck's Sea Weed Tonic dissolves the food, mixes with the gastric juices of the stomach, aids digestion and creates a ravenous appetite.

When the bowels are costive, skin sallow, or the symptoms otherwise of a bilious tendency, Schenck's Mandrake Pills are required.

These medicines are prepared only by
J. H. SCHENCK & SON,
N. E corner Sixth and Arch Sts., Phila.
And are for sale by all druggists and dealers.

Centaur Liniment

There is no pain which the Centaur Liniment will not relieve, no swelling they will not subdue, and no lameness which they will not cure. This is strong language, but it is true. They have produced more cures of rheumatism, neuralgia, lock-jaw, palsy, sprains, swellings, caked-breasts scalds, burns, salt-rheum, earache, &c., &c., upon the huma frame, and of strains spavin, galls, &c., upon animals in one year than have all other pretended remedies since the world began. They are counter-irritant, all-healing pain reliever. Cripples throw away their crutches, the lame walk, poisonous bites are endered harmless, and the wounded are healed without a scar. The recipe is published around each bottle. They sell as no articles ever before sold, and they sell because they do just what they pretends to do. Those who now suffer from rheumatism, pain or swelling, deserve to suffer if they will not use Centaur Liniment. More than 1000 certificates of remarkable cures, including frozen limbs, chronic rheumatism, gout, running tumors, &c., have been received. We will send a circular containing certificates, the recipe, &c., gratis, to any one requesting it. One bottle of the yellow wrapper Centaur Liniment is worth one hundred dollars for spavined or sweenied horses and mules, or for screw-worm in sheep. Stock-owners—these liniments are worth your attention. No family should be without them. "White wrapper for family use;" Yellow wrapper for animals. Sold by all Druggists. 50 cents per bottle; large bottles $1 00. J. B. ROSE & Co., 53 Broadway, New York.

CASTORIA is more than a substitute for Castor Oil. It is the only safe article in existence which is certain to assimilate the food, regulate the bowels, cure wind-colic and produce natural sleep. It contains neither minerals, morphine or alcohol, and is pleasant to take. Children need not cry and mothers may rest. 5-39-1y
